

“Whether you work to live or live to work,
DC has you covered.” — JAMES V. KIMSEY, FOUNDING CEO, AMERICA ONLINE, INC.

ESTIMATED TAXES
$5 Million Qualified High Tech Company
35 Employees

WITH NET 2000 INCENTIVES, IT PAYS TO MOVE YOUR TECH BUSINESS TO DC.

There's no denying the compelling lifestyle of the nation's capital. Watersports on the Potomac. Salsa 'til midnight in trendy nightspots. World-class cuisine in restaurants of every origin. There are simply more fun ways to spend time than most people have time to spend.

But more tangible than the lure of exciting urban life are the tremendous fiscal advantages the DC government is offering to the savvy business minds of today's tech industry. The new incentives, available through the New Economy Transformation Act of 2000 (NET 2000), are too valuable to ignore:

- Five-year elimination of franchise tax on incorporated tech companies in high tech development zones
- Reduced franchise tax of 6% for incorporated tech companies not in tech zones

- Zero franchise tax on unincorporated tech businesses
- Up to $5,000 per employee wage credit, up to $7,500 per employee credit for reimbursement of moving expenses
- 10-year exemption of personal property tax on certain purchases, up to $40,000 in expense deductions

- Real property tax abatements, sales and capital gains tax exemptions
- Affordable facilities programs

Refer to DC Law 13-256 and related regulations to determine eligibility. Information available at www.dcbiz.dc.gov

So start thinking DC and find out how much the new incentives can save you with the tax calculator available at www.dcbiz.dc.gov.

So, whether you work to live or live to work, DC has you covered. Call 202.727.6365

www.dcbiz.dc.gov

“Moving our company to DC was a left brain decision.
Living here was a right one.” — TODD MASON, PRESIDENT, ATLANTIC VIDEO, INC.

$56,480

FAIRFAX
COUNTY
VA

$48,025

MONTGOMERY
COUNTY
MD

$3,740

DC

ESTIMATED TAXES
$5 Million Qualified High Tech Company
35 Employees

WITH NET 2000 INCENTIVES, IT PAYS TO MOVE YOUR TECH BUSINESS TO DC.

There's no denying the compelling lifestyle of the nation's capital. Watersports on the Potomac. Salsa 'til midnight in trendy nightspots. World-class cuisine in restaurants of every origin. There are simply more fun ways to spend time than most people have time to spend.

But more tangible than the lure of exciting urban life are the tremendous fiscal advantages the DC government is offering to the savvy business minds of today's tech industry. The new incentives, available through the New Economy Transformation Act of 2000 (NET 2000), are too valuable to ignore:

- Five-year elimination of franchise tax on incorporated tech companies in high tech development zones
- Reduced franchise tax of 6% for incorporated tech companies not in tech zones

- Zero franchise tax on unincorporated tech businesses
- Up to $5,000 per employee wage credit, up to $7,500 per employee credit for reimbursement of moving expenses
- 10-year exemption of personal property tax on certain purchases, up to $40,000 in expense deductions

- Real property tax abatements, sales and capital gains tax exemptions
- Affordable facilities programs

Refer to DC Law 13-256 and related regulations to determine eligibility. Information available at www.dcbiz.dc.gov

So start thinking DC and find out how much the new incentives can save you with the tax calculator available at www.dcbiz.dc.gov.

For all the right and left brain reasons, relocating to DC is really a no-brainer. Call 202.727.6365

www.dcbiz.dc.gov

